

1 Survey Response

For my personality quiz I chose the quiz about which animated character I learned most like. My results were that I was most like Pooh. I learn well through movies, group discussion, and short reading assignments. I think the assessment was very accurate. I notice that I have always learned best visually. In my history class we watch a lot of movies and I notice little things from the movies. I think that watching someone do something and then repeating it is so much easier than someone telling me how to do it.

The survey says that I am most responsive to talking in group discussions. It also says that I am very observant of body language. I agree that I learn more easily in group discussions and benefit highly from it. I also agree that I observe body language and my mood is affected by other people's body language.
